Leadership Of Gizenga Disclaimed

Moderate Forces Ready Showdown To Oust Congolese

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga's political party today disclaimed his leadership as moderate forces converged for a showdown to oust Gizenga from an active role in the Congolese government.

Felicien Kimway, vice president of Gizenga's African Solidarity party, announced that Gizenga is no longer president of the party.

Kimway's announcement followed a resolution by Parliament Monday demanding that Gizenga—a deputy premier backed by the Communist bloc—return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer parliamentary accusations of secessionism.

The vote indicated clearly that disenchantment is growing among those leftists who once supported Gizenga as the legal head of the Congolese government after Patrice Lumumba's death.

If Gizenga fails to return, observers felt action might be started to oust him from the post of deputy premier he accepted last August in the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gizenga has secluded himself in Stanleyville for months. Reports from that northeast Congo city indicate he has lost much of his local and even foreign support.

In a resolution approved Monday by a vote of 66-10 with 7 abstentions, the central Congolese Parliament gave Gizenga 48 hours after notification by Premier Cyrille Adoula's government to reach Leopoldville.

During the heated debate, deputies accused Gizenga of secessionist activities in Stanleyville and refusing government demands to return here and take up his post. The resolution was introduced by a member of Gizenga's own party, which obviously misses his leadership in the capital.

As the self-proclaimed political heir to slain Premier Patrice Lumumba, Gizenga was recognized for months by the Communist bloc and some neutralists as the Congo's legal premier. After Parliament met last summer and confirmed Adoula as premier, Gizenga's leftist supporters gradually deserted him.

Prosecutor, Sheriff To Attend Meet

Attorney General Calls Meeting On State 'Blue Laws'

Both Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said today they plan to attend a meeting this weekend, on invitation from the state prosecuting attorney's association, with Attorney General Thomas Eagleton in Jefferson City concerning the enforcement of the state's "Blue Laws."

Fritz said he does not know just what the agenda for the meeting will be, but that he assumed it would concern a plan for coordinated action over the state to enforce the state's 136-year-old law banning sale of non-essential items in Missouri on Sunday.

Some communities, notably Kansas City and St. Louis, have already started making arrests of alleged violators of the law.

In Sedalia, Fritz said, an unofficial check was made in local stores last Sunday, and it was noted that in one supermarket, the owner had blocked off the sections containing non-food items. Fritz said that this was a voluntary action on the store owner's part.

Fritz reaffirmed a previous statement made by himself that his office is charged with the prosecution of alleged violators of any state law, but that in relation to the "Blue Laws" he would not prosecute anyone until after he has given sufficient notice that the laws must be enforced in Pettis County. Even after this notice is given, Fritz said he would prosecute only on official and proper complaint from a citizen or peace officer.

The prosecutor did not indicate if or when he would issue an enforcement notice.

Fairfax said that outside the city of Sedalia, violation of the "Blue Law" is not much of a

Major Cook Reassigned To New Post

'Briefing Officer' For Minuteman Well Known Here

Assignment changes this week involving three majors at Whiteman was announced by Col. Willis F. Lewis, commander of the 340th Bomb Wing, in replacing Major William R. Cook, Staff Information Officer.

Major Cook has received orders sending him to Randolph Air Force Base, Texas for a ten week course in KC-97 aerial refueling, and will then return to Whiteman as an aircraft commander in the 340th Air Refueling Squadron.

Major Warren V. Hastings, who has commanded the Civil Engineering Squadron, moves into the Staff Information position. His squadron commander duties are being taken over by Major Merlin S. Eltzroth, who moves from 17th Air Division Headquarters on the base.

Major Cook was assigned to Whiteman in July, 1960. Since announcement of construction of a Minuteman Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Complex near Whiteman last June, Major Cook has become widely known for his efforts in publicizing the project.

Getting right to the grass roots, Major Cook has gone into 14 West Central Missouri counties to give Minuteman briefings to farmers and townspeople who may be effected in any manner by missile site activation.

Over 75 briefings have told of the impact that Whiteman's Minuteman complex will have on the economy of a large section of the State of Missouri. Major Cook has talked to groups ranging in numbers from six to six hundred at community briefings, service clubs, and civic organizations. Governor John M. Dalton and his staff from Jefferson City, Mo., were included.

Major Warren V. Hastings, in assuming the position of Staff Information Officer has been active for some time in community and public relations as a member of the Whiteman Speakers Bureau. He is a past president of the Base Toastmasters organization, and was recently installed as Kiwanis Lt. Governor of Division Four in the Mo-Ark District that encompasses the greater Kansas City

Tank Explosion Kills 4 Soldiers

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—A tank and a truck collided at Ft. Hood today and a resultant explosion killed four soldiers and injured 19 others, 11 seriously.

The tank belonged to the 67th Armored and the truck to the 35th Armored of the 2nd Armored Division.

They hit at the gate of the motor pool of the 67th Armored. No names have been released.

Viet Nam Army To Increase

US Military Aid Helping Build-up To Fight Guerrillas

WASHINGTON —(AP)—South Viet Nam is acting to increase its regular army from 170,000 to 200,000 with the help of U.S. military aid.

U.S. officials said that the guerrilla war appears to be growing in intensity there, killing and wounding 400 non-Communists a week.

State Department officials in disclosing the army buildup today said the additional costs would be borne by both South Viet Nam and the United States through a new financial reform program.

U.S. officials estimate that Communist North Viet Nam has 300,000 to 350,000 men under arms.

In the past year guerrilla activity by the Communist Viet Cong rebels more than doubled, according to W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state.

The number of Viet Cong operating in South Viet Nam is estimated at 18,000 or more. U.S. officials said there has been a sharp increase in violent incidents in recent months.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr., is conducting an overall review of American policy in South Viet Nam with foreign aid representatives and officials of the State and Defense departments.

Mercury To Minus 15 For State Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A cold wave drove temperatures below zero in north Missouri today. The weather bureau said it will be even colder tonight.

It was 13 below at Chillicothe, 7 below at Kirksville and from 5 to 7 below at Maryville and in suburbs of Kansas City.

Snow fell this morning in the Bootheel where Cape Girardeau had 9 degrees above zero.

Readings of 5 to 15 below, possibly lower in spots, were forecast for most parts of the state except the southeast tonight.

Scattered snow flurries and northerly winds 20 to 30 mph were predicted for this afternoon in the northwest. Occasional snow may continue in the southeast.

The weatherman said highs Wednesday will creep up only to 5 to 15 above zero.

A state highway maintenance source said US 36 east of Maryville had some one-way stretches where there were drifts. The same was true of M36 near Ravenwood. U. S. 71 north of Maryville and M27 north were one-way in spots. Many county routes in that area were blocked with snow or open only to one-way traffic.

Royal Ragar Named To Governing Board Of Highway Engineers

Royal Ragar, Pettis County Highway Engineer, has been appointed as a member of the Governing Board of the Highway Engineering Association of Missouri, by the association president, W. H. Ice.

Ragar, along with Fred J. Culver, presiding judge of Buchanan County, and J. T. Willis, an engineer, make up the governing board, which acts as a committee to exercise control of all association property, and to act as association auditors, and to conduct an annual examination of books, records and accounts.

The Pettis Countian has been invited to attend a luncheon and convention of the association in Kansas City Feb. 15-16.

C. Berry Elliott, Presiding Judge of the Pettis County Court, E. L. Birdsong, Judge Eastern District, and C. M. Purchase, Judge Western District, are honorary members of the engineering association.

Bulk Passage of Programs By Congress Is Predicted

JFK's Last Year Record Seen As Biggest Factor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic leadership of Congress predicted today that the bulk of President Kennedy's heavy legislative program will be passed in the new session which starts Wednesday.

The House majority leader and speaker-to-be, Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters after a White House breakfast that the President scored a "tremendous record last year."

"I have every confidence that Congress will enact into law the greater part of the President's program," he said.

McCormack was speaking of the domestic side of the administration's want list.

That program includes tax revision, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education and other controversial proposals.

McCormack left in deep doubt, however, the outlook for the proposal for health care under the Social Security system.

When newsmen quizzed him on the point he said: "I have every confidence that if the bill comes out of the Ways and Means Committee it will be approved by the House."

He was asked: "What do you think of the chances of its coming out of the committee?"

McCormack paused a moment, then said in a tone of finality: "Well, thank you, gentlemen."

The session with Kennedy was billed as a preview of the State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress in person Thursday. Cabinet members were summoned to a later session to go over the message.

Monday Kennedy made unusual efforts to enlist bipartisan support for his foreign policies.

Provisional Contract For Holiday Inn

Architectural plans have been drawn and a contract provisionally awarded for the construction of a Holiday Inn Motel west of Sedalia at 32nd Street here in Sedalia.

George E. Dugan, Jr., one of several locally interested parties identified with the deal, said Tuesday that while the H. G. Hall Construction Company of Memphis, Tenn. had been named as contractors, the contract letting was still unofficial pending completion of financial negotiations.

A construction magazine, the Mid-West Contractor, stated in its January issue that the contract had been awarded at a cost of $507,171.

A spokesman for Sammons and Buller, local architects who drew the plans for the structure, said the motel building would be L-shaped with two stories and include a total of 100 rental units. Dimensions were set as 198 by 169 feet.

A one-story 117 by 51 feet commercial building will house the offices, public lobby, bar, dining room, meeting room, kitchen and coffee shop. Mechanical equipment rooms will be on each floor of the motel building.

Also included in the plans are a swimming pool to be located between the motel and commercial building.

No starting construction date has been established at this time, according to Dugan.

In Reverse

Talk about over doing a good thing, the weatherman is out to reverse the procedure.

Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a few snow flurries likely; continued quite cold with low tonight 5-10 below zero; high Wednesday around 10.

The temperature Tuesday was -3 at 7 a.m. and -4 at 8 a.m. and 4 at 1 p.m. Low Monday night was -3.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 48; low 20; two years ago, high 59; low 34; three years ago, high 30; low 9.

Lake of Ozark stage: 58.5 feet; 1.5 below full reservoir; no change.

Molotov Overdue In Vienna

Moscow Indicates He Should Have Arrived By Now

MOSCOW (AP)—where is V. M. Molotov?

That was the question in Moscow today, 24 hours after the Foreign Ministry announced he had returned to his post as Soviet representative on the International Atomic Energy Commission in Vienna.

The doughty old Stalinist, former foreign-minister, has not yet been registered as entering Austria.

The Foreign Ministry said Monday he had left but today the Foreign Ministry had two different versions: That he would leave this coming Friday or Saturday; that his departure date was a matter that needed investigation and "call back tomorrow."

One thing was definite—the Foreign Ministry reaffirmed that Molotov, despite the attacks on him at the 22nd Communist party congress, is going back to Vienna.

A spokesman for the Soviet delegation to the International Atomic Energy Agency professed surprise at the Moscow announcement that Molotov was resuming his post as permanent Soviet representative to the atoms for peace agency. He said Molotov "definitely has not yet arrived."

Iowa Governor Pays Visit To Reserve Unit

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Norman A. Erbe of Iowa visited and inspected Burlington, Iowa's, 495th Engineer Battalion in training at Ft. Leonard Wood Monday.

Gov. Erbe, accompanied by officials of several Iowa cities, made a quick inspection of the battalion's barracks, then watched the troops in training exercises.

The 495th is an armor reserve unit activated last October.

Gov. Erbe said "I'm sure proud of them and the work they are doing. The caliber of the men is very high and it appears their morale is excellent."

ELECTED CHIEF JUSTICE—Judge Henry J. Westhues, 73-year-old native of Westphalen, Germany, became chief justice of the Missouri Supreme Court in Jefferson City Monday. He was elected by the other six judges of the court to succeed Judge Laurance M. Hyde as chief justice. Because of the weight of administrative burdens placed on the chief justice, none hold office for more than a year and a half, resigning to allow another judge to have the honor and the extra work. Westhues came to Missouri at the age of four, grew up in Glasgow, Mo., and earned his degree in law from St. Louis University in 1912. He was a former city attorney for Jefferson City, Cole county prosecuting attorney, Cole county circuit judge and a former commissioner of the Supreme Court from 1939 to 1954. He was appointed a Supreme Court Judge in 1954 and was elected to a 12-year term in 1956. (AP Photo)

After Mild Protest

Airliner Release Okayed By Soviet

MOSCOW — (AP)—The Soviet government agreed today to release a Belgian airliner which landed Monday in Armenia while on a flight from Tehran to Brussels, Belgium, with 27 persons aboard.

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Coels that all passengers and crewmen were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the Caravelle jetliner.

Charles Bell Files As Councilman

Charles Bell, 1319 East Sixth, Democrat, has filed for nomination as councilman from the Second Ward, in the March 6 City Primary election.

Kuznetsov said instructions had been sent to Grozny to release the airliner as soon as technical details can be taken care of. These details will be worked out between Sabena and the Soviet airline Aeroflot.

Youths' Radio Station Silenced

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The slightly high-pitched voice of WALE, "your neighborly station," has signed off without so much as one bong.

It was turned off, gently but firmly, by a grim-faced investigator of the Federal Communications Commission who read the riot act to its two operators—Bruce Wahl, 13, and David Lester, 14.

Its station was Wahl's bedroom; its commentators, engineers, announcers, and disc jockeys were Wahl and Lester. Its range was neighborly—covering nine other houses.

The boys pieced the equipment together from old parts and went on the air a month ago from Wahl's home in nearby Falls Church, Va.

Every afternoon after school

WALE offered the neighbors a program of weather information, news culled from newspapers and music—"everything from rock 'n' roll to the semi-classics."

Any listeners? Wahl and Lester had no rating but Wahl said he knew that at least one family listened—"but they moved away after the first broadcast. Of course, they had been planning to move for six months."

It was fun. Until the other day. WALE had been on the air for about 45 minutes when Bruce spotted a man in an automobile aiming a device with an aerial at the bedroom window.

Then the man came to the door. "Are you running a radio station?" he asked.

Proudly the boys acknowledged they were.

The smiles faded when the man flashed a card identifying him as an investigator from the FCC. He said he wanted to check their equipment.

After checking the equipment—which operated on about a tenth of a watt—he sat down last Thursday with the boys and Bruce's mother and read a passage from a book. It was a copy of the Communications Act and it told how people operating unlicensed stations could be fined $10,000 or sent to jail for two years. Maybe both.

"Boy," said Bruce, "did we begin shaking like leaves."

So now WALE is off the air. The FCC is willing to forget the whole thing but officials explained there would be chaos on the airwaves if anybody could operate a station, even a neighborly one.

South Pole Vigil

Down Under Radar Station
Key to Atmospheric StudyBy FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

SOUTH POLE STATION (AP)—The hi-fi record player stopped dead in the midst of a brilliant passage of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"What's wrong—tube trouble?" asked a newly arrived newsmen. "No," replied a young scientist. "The C3 just fired. She fires every 15 minutes for 15 seconds, and we've fixed things so that when she's firing, the record player shuts off temporarily—so we won't hear the static."

The C3 turns out to be a powerful radar set which silently shoots pulses of invisible light 250 miles high into the frigid atmosphere enveloping this lonely station at the bottom of the world.

It turns out, too, that C3 is playing a key role in a worldwide network designed to forecast and circumvent atmospheric conditions that can interrupt commercial and military radio communications.

The round the clock firing of the C3 is only one example of the potentially important scientific work going on in a small, shack-like, orange-colored building atop under eight feet of snow atop the antarctic icecap.

Importance of the pole station as a scientific outpost is that it and other antarctic stations offer 50-yard-line seats for monitoring certain of nature's antics.

Researchers working at instruments and charts may help fill in gaps in man's knowledge of the weather, climate, earthquakes, radio communications, survival in polar areas—and even the hazards of space travel.

Meteorologists like chief scientist Ben Harlin of Louisville, Ky., and Edward Flowers of Washington, D.C., check four times a day on a complex of instruments spread on the snow cover atop the station. They work in temperatures which ranged down to 102 degrees below zero during the recent polar winter and even now, in early summer, stand at about minus 47.

Rene O. Ramsauer and Edward J. Oliver, both of the Army's Cold Regions Research Laboratory at Hanover, N.H., spend hours each day in a 90-foot deep snow mine, gathering data that could lead to "snow mine" living in polar regions—and possibly even food storage caches for civil defense purposes.

The work with the C3 radar is directed by James Burnham of the National Bureau of Standards' Boulder, Colo. laboratories.

The job of this big instrument is to measure the height and density of the ionosphere, the capricious blanket of electrified air that encircles the planet at heights between 60 and 375 miles.

Normally, the ionosphere serves as a reflector of radio waves broadcast from the earth—thus allowing long distance communications. It is subject to changes in height and other characteristics which often bedevil communications, sometimes causing complete blackouts.

By computing the time for a roundtrip of certain waves, scientists can compute the height of the invisible halo. By using pulses of varying frequency they can tell which frequencies are best to use for communications purposes under current density conditions of the ionosphere.

The C3 is only one of 100 such radar sky-probes in use around the world—contributing to a system that makes possible the prediction of radio communications conditions as much as three months in advance.

Big Aluminum
Freight Cars
Reduce Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner heard Monday about big new aluminum freight cars with which the Southern Railway hopes to slash some of its grain transportation rates by up to 66 percent.

D. W. Brosnan, executive vice president of the railroad, described the new cars at the opening of a hearing.

The hearing resulted from protests against Southern's plan to reduce its charges for big grain shipments from Mississippi and Ohio river points into the southeastern United States.

Opposition came from operators of grain barges, milling interests along the Tennessee River, and shippers of smaller loads of grain.

Also protesting are trade groups from western grain centers, like Kansas City, Chicago and Indianapolis, and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

They contend the rate cuts would drive the barge operators out of business and discriminate against small shippers.

Brosnan devoted most of his testimony to steps taken by the Southern through the years to cut overhead costs, modernize equipment and meet competition.

One of the big steps, he testified, was development of new aluminum cars about twice as big as steel-alloy cars used in hauling grain.

Southern charges $10.50 a net ton to haul grain from St. Louis to Gainesville, Ga., in the 50-ton steel cars. Using the 90-ton aluminum cars, it would charge $3.97 a ton for a 20-car shipment, $4.07 for a 10-car shipment and $4.17 for a five-car shipment.

The new cars have loading hatches on the top and discharge hoppers on the bottom, Brosnan said.

"You can put grain in there about as simply as you can put water into a bathtub," he said.

Brosnan said the railroad's toughest competition for the grain-shipping business comes from the truckers.

Truckers have a competitive advantage, he said, because they are exempt from IC rate regulations

Navy Attack Plane

Child Piano
Prodigy Has Held SuccessBy JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the ironies about child prodigies—and it's the one that keeps ordinary mortals from feeling short-changed—is that when they cease to be children they frequently are no longer prodigious either.

An exception is Ruth Slenczynska (pronounced slen-chin-ska). As a plump 4-year-old she climbed up on a piano stool to make her professional debut in Oakland, Calif. That was 32 years ago.

Wednesday she will be back in the bay area as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony at a concert celebrating its 50th anniversary. She'll receive a key to the city to add to her thriving collection.

Recalling her precocious childhood, she says: "I'm grateful for the experience, but it's like surviving a great calamity. You're glad you lived through it, but you wouldn't advocate it for anyone else."

Her Berlin debut came at age 6, Paris at 7, New York at 8. "Greatest keyboard genius since Mozart" was one of the milder accolades.

"I never had anything I wanted," she goes on, without bitterness. "I never wanted to be a pianist. It was my father's idea before I was born. But since I am one—"

"I've learned when given a set of circumstances to make the most of them, to enjoy them."

"But I'd probably be the most happy, contented little housewife and mother."

Ruth lives alone in a New York apartment. She'd like to have a pet, but she travels too much to keep one. In the past five years she has given more than a thousand concerts on three continents.

She likes out-of-the-way places. In Anchorage, Alaska, in November, she received standing ovations two nights in a row. She explains modestly: "It was 40 below zero and the audience probably was postponing going outside." After San Francisco, it will be Moosejaw, Sask.

Ruth, who is just under 5 feet, keeps dieted down to a size 7. She can barely reach an octave with her tiny hands. "If they were a tiny bit smaller, I'd be out of business," she says.

She once was fired as a waitress when hauling agricultural products.

This enables them to haul grain from the Midwest into the South and they then pick up "gasoline money" by hauling fruit and produce at low rates on the return trip, he said.

Stokley Extension
Holds Regular Meet

The Stokley Extension Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Elroy Schroeder.

The meeting was opened by group singing led by Mrs. C. A. Clark in the absence of the song leader, Mrs. Guy Ballew. There were seven members and three visitors present.

A program about the new drivers and chauffeurs license law was presented by Mrs. Elroy Schroeder. A short lesson was held on Civil Defense and the need for a shelter by Mrs. Robert Poort.

During the business meeting which followed the motion was made and seconded to serve the drink and present a short program for the township election to be held in January.

The new year books were presented. After the discussion the motion was made and seconded that names be drawn for secret pals for the coming year.

The new members are Mrs. Harold Whittall, Mrs. Kenneth Knight and Mrs. Eugene Brockman.

Following the adjournment, games were led by Mrs. Elroy Schroeder.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. W. T. Summerskill.

Striped College 4-H
Holds January Meet

The Striped College 4-H Club met at the Striped College School Wednesday with 28 present.

Betty Viebrock gave a talk on Civil Defense.

Demonstrations were given by John Bohon and Sandra Winebrenner. There was a health question box. Club goals and requirements were read. It was announced that the radio program will be given Jan. 27.

The County Council report was given by Joan Leiter. The group also discussed the Share the Fun Dramatics Festival. It was decided to hold a skating and Valentine party.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Striped College School.

She was teaching at the College of Our Lady of Mercy in Burlingame, Calif., "and I thought I'd found my niche and wanted to stay forever," when she was overheard practicing in 1951 by the head of the Carmel Bach Festival. He asked her to play; then came concerts with the San Francisco Symphony; conductor Arthur Fiedler asked her to go on tour—"and the ball hasn't stopped rolling yet."

Famed Chili Favorite Of Liz Taylor

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The urgent cable came from Rome: "Dear Dave, please send me 10 quarts of your wonderful chili in dry ice." It was signed: Elizabeth Taylor Fisher.

Dave Chasen quickly whipped up a batch of chili and dispatched it to Rome at a shipping cost of $100. In return he received an affectionate letter from Cleopatra and consort, Eddie Fisher: "We cannot tell you what your chili has done for us all the way over here. Like that Jewish song, 'Sure and a Little Bit of Heaven Fell Out of the Sky One Day.'"

Like Jane Wyman, Kirk Douglas and Walter O'Malley, Liz Taylor is fanatical about Dave Chasen's chili. Like J. Edgar Hoover, Harlow Curtice, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Steelworkers' boss David McDonald, Liz is also a fan of the Chasen eatery on Beverly Boulevard.

The list would also include virtually every big name in the movie world. Dave Chasen is now marking his 25th year as a restaurateur, and he is still running Hollywood's favorite eating joint.

He's a little guy with curly hair and flat stomach ("I watch the cholesterol and I'm never reluctant to push away from the table"). His manner is always affable, and he claims never to have had fights in the house, though Humphrey Bogart and third wife Mayo Methot used to do some pretty good sparring.

Dave started in 1936 as the Southern Pit Barbecue, and the hit of the place was his chili, then as now.

"I always enjoyed cooking—used to do it on the road for Joe Cook," Dave remarked. He was the late comic's vaudeville stooge and a pal to many of the Broadway greats. Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, staked him to the start in the restaurant business.

Chasen's grew from 50 seats to its present 250, and the legends mounted with the years. I asked Dave for the times at Chasen's he remembered most fondly.

"There was the night we held a wake for W. C. Fields," he recalled.

"Jack Dempsey was here, and Gene Fowler, John Decker, Bogart, Peter Lorre and Nunnally Johnson. We all got stiff and not one of us ever mentioned Fields' name."

"I remember that Dempsey spent two-thirds of the evening under the table—giving hoots."

Jap's Postwar Debt Settled For One-Fourth

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's postwar debt to the United States was settled today for less than one-quarter of its original cost.

Japan agreed to repay $490 million of the $1,889,000,000 it received from 1945-52 mostly in relief supplies and economic rehabilitation.

Under terms of the repayment, $25 million will be used for educational and cultural exchanges between the two countries. The United States plans to use most of the rest for aid to underdeveloped countries in Asia, which would help strengthen Japan's key markets.

Argentina Against Sanctions on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentina apparently opposes any collective sanctions against Cuba. Latin-American diplomats say.

They said that seemed to be the essence of a series of proposals forwarded to President Kennedy by Argentina's President Arturo Frondizi.

The diplomats based their estimate of the Argentine proposals, which have not been made public, on news dispatches and on attitudes expressed by Argentine diplomats.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour cheeks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

The Business World

Kingpin Yankee Dollar Is Even Subject to Reproach

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — Even the Yankee dollar—long the kingpin of world currencies—is subject to raids by international speculators. Americans found this out to their amazement a little over a year ago when foreigners — and probably some Americans working through overseas banks — rushed to turn in their dollars for gold.

That discovery is what's behind Monday's announcement of a proposed $6-billion kitty to defend the dollar and the currency of nine other nations.

Other currencies — the once dominant English pound sterling, the French franc — had been subject since the war to periodic sinking spells. Americans shrugged this off as the other fellow's problem.

The dollar, they thought, would always be as good as gold everywhere. Maybe it would buy a little less in the market place from year to year, but everyone would as soon have it as gold.

Then Americans found out that many people didn't think the dollar was as strong as it once was, even worried that it might lose enough prestige to force devaluation in relation to gold and other currencies.

The price of gold, legally $35 an ounce, soared for a time in October 1960 on the London free market to a peak of $40.60. After this shock, Americans moved fast to do something about it. Both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administration scotched the rumors about devaluation. Checks on the outflow of dollars were proposed, and some put into effect.

But one of the steps taken was to join nine other powers in forming a $6-billion pool to defend themselves against unusual drains on their gold and foreign exchange reserves.

The pool would be administered by the International Monetary Fund. The plan is subject to ratification by Congress and the other national legislatures.

The 10 would put up cash only as the funds are needed, but would be pledged as follows in dollars:

United States two billion; Britain and Germany one billion each; France and Italy 550 million each; Japan 250 million; Canada and the Netherlands 200 million each; Belgium 150 million; and Sweden 100 million.

The proposed pool is for use in protecting the dollar or other currencies from any temporary raids. The beleaguered nation could borrow other countries' currencies from the fund to settle foreign claims without using its gold or own currency reserves.

This would work temporarily. It wouldn't cure any deep seated or persistent weakness in a nation's fiscal or economic condition.

Burley Tobacco Dips to Season Low on Market

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Burley tobacco sales, interrupted for the Christmas holidays, resumed Monday and the price average dipped to $65.37 a hundred pounds, a season low.

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture reported 28 markets sold 15,508,078 pounds for $10,138,133. The previous low was $65.44 on Dec. 21, the last sales day before the holidays.

Average prices for heavy volume grades were generally unchanged to slightly lower on the eight-state burley belt, compared to the last day of sales before the holidays.

Losses were $1 to $2 per hundred pounds but several grades showed similar gains.

Volume on the entire belt up to the holiday recess totaled 322,973,586 pounds at an average of $66.75. For the same period last season, volume was 401,599,000 at an average of $65.20.

Based on the government estimate of a crop of 547,800,000 pounds, a little more than 90 per cent has been sold.

Epworth WSCS Holds Luncheon Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Epworth Methodist Church met Thursday for its regular meeting. Organ prelude music was played by Mrs. Paul Berthouex.

Mrs. M. H. Shelby, spiritual life chairman, had the devotional lesson Mrs. Charles Hurd led the group in singing of the hymn. After which, Mrs. Orpha Wheeler, presented the lesson for the day, "Alcohol and Christian Responsibility." An open discussion was held following her talk.

The sick and shut-ins were announced and a prayer service, led by Mrs. Shelby, was held.

Mrs. Lloyd Knox conducted the business meeting. At which time future dates were announced, and plans made for coming events. Circle chairmen made activity reports. With the praying of the Lord's Prayer, the group adjourned to the dining room.

A covered dish luncheon was served at festive decorated tables. The invocation was given by Mrs. Frank Henderson. The hostesses for the day were members of the Wednesday Night Circle. During the noon hour, a special membership and pin were presented to Mrs. H. R. Kettle. Mrs. Frank Henderson and Mrs. M. H. Shelby made the presentation.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 1.

Rotarians See Film On Magazine

A Rotary International filmstrip, "Our Magazine—Adventure In Friendship" was presented by William Hurlbut, Jr., chairman of the Rotary Magazine committee, at the meeting of the Sedalia Rotary Club on Monday at Hotel Bothwell.

The Rotarian magazine was founded in 1911 and today has nearly a half-million circulation in 136 countries. By informing Rotary Clubs around the world of activities carried on by individual clubs, it has stimulated the accomplishment of many community and international projects which are today carried on by members of this world-wide organization.

Narration for the filmstrip was made by David Martin. Dave Wallington January program chairman introduced the program's participants.

President Elmer McClung announced the newly formed Lee's Summit Rotary Club will hold its charter night on Thursday, Jan. 11, and that in addition to himself and his wife, the Sedalia Rotary Club would be represented by the following members and their wives: Jess Brown, Keith Yount, Bill Arnold, William Hurlbut, Jr., and K. U. Love.

Ted Gauert presented the following: Carl Yates and Bob Phillips, new members of the Sedalia club; Larry Griffith, Sr., and Karl Baumler, visiting Rotarians from Port Allegany, Pa.; Jack Crawford, California, Mo., publisher of the California Democrat, guest of W. D. Hill; M. B. Ireland, guest of Dr. L. S. Geiger, and Tommy Mitchell, Smith-Cotton student guest.

Emory Bowman served as song leader and Dave Wallington gave the invocation.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERRER, MOTHER OF 5

Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. Some mothers apply this charming wedding custom to baby's layette. Nice sentiment for a new baby.

Post-natal pointers. Watching your diet is just as important after the baby comes as it is before. You need all the nutrients your doctor recommended to regain your strength and keep you fit. Word to the wise: crash diets are no more sensible than over-eating.

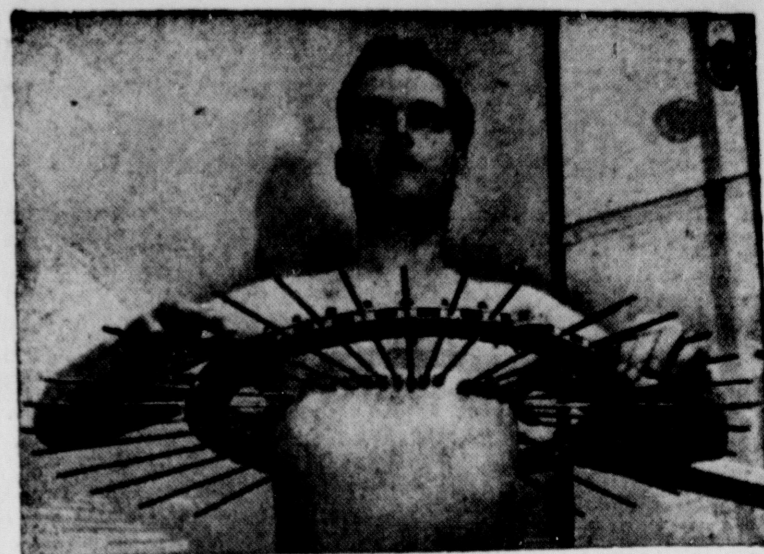

Watching baby's diet is one of your doctor's (and your) primary concerns. When he gives you the go-ahead on cereal, you'll want to try Gerber Cereal Quads — the variety package containing small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal. Each one has a bland but distinctive flavor — all four have a smooth-to-the-tongue, easy-to-swallow texture. Most important, they're enriched with blood-building iron, important B-vitamins and bone-building calcium.

Night-feedings simplified. You can take the grope and fumble out of night feedings if you lay out robe, slippers, diaper, etc., in advance. Luminous paint on hall and kitchen light switches will save many a stumble in the dark.

Vitamin viewpoint. Baby's vitamin drops are best given by dropper. If you put them in his formula and he doesn't finish it, precious drops will be wasted.

Another vitamin viewpoint. Vitamin C, so important for sound gums and body tissues, is usually recommended early in the new baby's diet. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is an excellent source of vitamin C. Made of tree-ripened fruit, specially selected for mildness, it's ever so delicate—the way it should be for a new baby. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

DESPITE any superficial resemblance to an ancient torture device, the above apparatus serves a most useful and painless medical purpose. Called a Scoliometer, it is used to measure deformities of the human trunk and assess breathing difficulties caused by spinal curvature. It was developed through funds provided by the National Foundation-March of Dimes to create a Birth Defect Clinical Study Center at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, Nashville, Tenn.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid Meets Thursday

The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Thursday at the church basement, at which time the new officers were installed by the Rev. Walter F. Strickert. The new officers are: Mrs. Al Schreiner, president; Mrs. E. J. Thomas, vice-president; Mrs. Jake Stubinger, secretary and Miss Elizabeth Mueller, treasurer.

The following committees were announced for the first quarter: social, Mrs. E. J. Bethke and Mrs. Carl Bergmann; visiting, Mrs. Al Schreiner and Miss Elizabeth Mueller and membership, Mrs. E. J. Thomas and Mrs. Otto Dieckmann.

The meeting opened with singing two hymns followed by the scripture reading by Mr. Strickert, taken from Psalm 97. The topic, also led by Mr. Strickert, was, "Love Reaching Into All the World."

The social committee reported that 14 Christmas boxes and two plants were taken to shut-in members of the church before Christmas. The society again accepted the dates of June 6 and 20 and Nov. 14 and 28 to do Red Cross sewing at Whiteman Air Force Base.

Following the meeting refreshments were served from attractively decorated tables to 14 members. The hostesses were Mrs. Schreiner and Miss Elizabeth Mueller.

Car Makers Set Sights On Big Output In 1962

DETROIT — The auto-makers are off in full swing in the 1962 production race. Their sights are set on the biggest output for the industry since record 1955.

The giants—General Motors and Ford—started a fast pace last week, each scheduling overtime at four plants to make up some of the production cost on New Year's Day.

The auto plants are expected to regain the pre-holiday production levels this week with approximately half the industry's assembly facilities on overtime.

The December output totaled 627,301 and the January total may well reach 670,000 passenger cars.

Last week's car production was estimated at 122,400 units compared with 105,522 in the final week of 1961 and 74,204 in opening week a year ago.

KB-50 Tanker Missing With Nine Aboard

NEW YORK (AP)—An Air Force KB50 tanker aircraft with nine men aboard was reported overdue early today on a flight from Langley Air Force Base, Va., to the Azores Islands off Portugal.

The Coast Guard here said the plane's last reported position was about 240 miles due east of Norfolk, Va.

The spokesman said a "track line" search was being conducted—meaning, he said, a search of an area 40 miles south and 90 miles north of the area in which the plane last was reported.

At Langley, an Air Force spokesman said a radio check was being made with all airports and fields where the plane may have landed if trouble developed on the flight.

The plane left Langley at 11:17 a.m. Monday and was due in the Azores at 6:59 p.m.

Its fuel supply would have been exhausted at 11 p.m. Monday, Langley officials said.

The plane is attached to the 427th Air Refueling Squadron at Langley.

Ghana Teaching Post Is Given An Atomic Spy

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the Western world's first atom spy, has been appointed special professor of physics at the University of Ghana.

Announcing this today, a Ghana spokesman said the 50-year-old British scientist is expected to take up the appointment shortly.

May worked on an atomic energy project in Canada during World War II. He was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1946 for disclosing atomic secrets to the Soviet Union. He was released in 1952 after serving six years and eight months of the term.

Passengers May Pay $50 For Missing Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—Airlines may begin on March 1 charging passengers up to $50 when they don't show up for their reservations, the Civil Aeronautics Board has decided in a tentative ruling.

But a passenger may also collect a penalty of at least $25 if he shows up with a ticket and finds no seat available.

In a ruling Monday, the CAB said the order would be deferred for 20 days to allow the airlines or other interested parties to file comments or protests.

The action stemmed from a request of 11 major airlines that something be done about the "no-shows."

Mother and Son In Accident At Third and Grand

Third street and Grand avenue is an unlucky intersection for Mrs. Martha Woolery, 49, and her son Willard Lee Woolery, 17, of 619 East Ninth street—both had accident there on Monday. Icy pavement was blamed for both.

The first accident occurred at 12:10 p.m. which involved her son while the second accident was at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Occupants of vehicles in both accidents escaped being injured according to the police report.

In the first accident according to the police report was a 1957 Ford sedan driven north on Grand by Archie Burris, Jr., 404 West Morgan, and a 1953 Chevrolet sedan driven east on Third by Willard Lee Woolery. According to the report Burris' car went into a side skid as he applied his brakes and the car skidded into the intersection.

The front end and grill on the Woolery car were damaged and the left side of the Burris car damaged.

The three passengers in the Woolery car were listed as Jerry Thomas, 17, 320 East Chestnut; Danny Brown, 16, 513 South Osage, and Dale Anthes, 15, 1702 East Sixteenth.

Slippery pavement was the result of the second mishap.

Mrs. Woolery, driving a 1956 Chevrolet sedan was headed north on Grand avenue, parked waiting for the traffic light to change when a 1958 Pontiac sedan, driven by Michael Hogan, 602 West Seventh, slid into the right rear of the Chevrolet. According to the police report, Hogan applied his brakes and the car went into a skid and out of control.

Hogan endeavored to swerve the car to miss the parked vehicle, but the left side of the Pontiac skidded into the right rear.

The car driven by Hogan was owned by Jennifer Sullivan, 2400 Albert Lee, according to the police report.

Sheriff Reports
Three farm wagon wheels complete with tires, found on Route H, just north of Sedalia by Tom Wasson Monday night, have been identified as equipment reported stolen from a farm owned by Sam Hieronymus.

Wasson, who resides at 2700 East Broadway, found the wheels and tires and called the Sedalia Police Department. As the matter occurred outside the city limits, the call was referred to the Pettis County Sheriff's Department.

Officer Edward Laird of the police department and Deputy Jack Couts of the sheriff's office made the investigation. Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said the equipment will be returned to the owner.

Police Reports
William L. Stanley, Route 3, suffered severe cuts about the face in a disturbance at Rissler's Tavern about 11 p.m. Monday, according to the police report.

The report lists a disturbance call to the tavern, on West Main, at 11 p.m. Officers William Raines and Charles Stuart answered the call, according to the report.

On the call the officers report that Stanley was taken to Bothwell Hospital where Dr. A. R. Maddox took 45 stitches to close wounds on the right side of the face. Stanley was admitted to the hospital, where he was listed in fair condition at noon Tuesday.

In relation to the incident, Delmer Vansel, 421 East 26th, was placed in the city jail and is being held for investigation. The police officers said a broken beer glass was used in the disturbance.

Simons is a veteran of World War II and served for two years overseas in the army. He took part in the "D" invasion of France during the war and was awarded three bronze battle stars.

He attended Sedalia Public Schools and Smith - Cotton High School.

Simons will be remembered as Raymond Stiles of the Golden Gloves and was a member of the Golden Glove team from Sedalia in Kansas City for several years.

Simons is married and has four children.

Don't Blame French For Shoddy Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's be calm. Broadway's new play, "The Egg," may not really be a French mistake.

True, the program at the Cort Theater, where it opened Monday night, calls the exhibit a translation from Felicien Marceau's Paris hit.

The kindest possible comment on the things done by adaptor Robert Schlitt, director Lamont Johnson and the busy, busy cast is that "The Egg" gets pretty interesting only during the last half hour of its blessedly brief running time.

Dick Shawn, a night club comic in his Broadway debut, carries the chief role like a valiant college fullback.

A beffy man of cherubic visage, Shawn sidesteps, wheels and grimaces with enthusiasm as a Gallic youth trying to crack "the System." This, he explains, is the hard shell of earthy existence. To do it, you've got to be sly, amoral and unsentimental.

Having established this viewpoint in the first act, Shawn and his cohorts demonstrate the thesis with a love slaying in the second half.

A lively courtroom finale scarcely atones for the wilted whimsy and sophomoric satire that has gone before. Schlitt seems utterly unable to resist a shoddy joke or vulgar touch.

It is hardly surprising that the performance rarely attains any appreciable measure of unified style. Frederick Rolf and Michael Constantine are among the few who refuse to succumb to the prevailing torpor. Another cast member is Marcia Levant, daughter of pianist-talker Oscar Levant, who tackles three bit parts in her first Broadway assignment.

"The Egg" is an entertainment humpty-dumpty that all the king's men couldn't put together. But let's not blame the French.

Policemen Disperse Negro Picket Lines

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Negro pickets protesting a segregation Citizens Council rally Monday night at the Municipal Auditorium were dispersed by police.

Five pickets were accompanied by four other Negroes including the Rev. Avery Alexander, president of the Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, a Negro group. They left when Police Capt. Presley Trosclair told them the picketing would "unreasonably alarm and disturb the public."

Nothing New In Fashion Conclusion

NEW YORK — (AP) — Men like women.

This is what more than 200 fashion writers concluded Sunday after the New York Couture Group intensely probed the subject, "What do men like?"

The lesson was presented in the form of the international silk show with some shapely, sleeved teachers modeling silky women's apparel with man appeal.

The study was thorough. It began with wild, woolly and sleek linen-looking coats and suits. It continued with costumes for sports, beach, daytime, cocktail, evening and, indeed, through the night. All was spun courtesy of the silkworm.

"Men like ruffles and full skirts," the commentator announced. Girls flounced onto the runway in crinkly silk crepes that rustled and rippled.

"Men like sheer dresses with long, tight sleeves," the voice declared authoritatively. Exotic, black-eyed ladies appeared in nude black chiffon that covered up everything, and yet didn't.

"Men like ladies to be provocative." As if they didn't already know this, fashion writers dutifully scribbled the idea, also taking note of a slinky, black silk shantung at-home costume, very bare at the top.

They also made note of a pool-sitter suit by Mr. Gee. The thought-provoking three-piece hooded green and white silk print jacket covered the little girl all the way to her brief, flared skirt. When it slipped off, it left her barely covered at all.

"Men love the childish touch." To illustrate this, models too shapely to be children minced forth in dainty silk print dresses with smocked yokes and self belts.

"Men are attracted to long, sleeky black. They can't resist the exotic look, either," said the lady. She pointed out that this effect was best achieved with tightly fitted Oriental or Indian printed silk sheaths.

"Men are enchanted by one-shoulder dresses, happily created from clouds of chiffon with giant flowers on it. They are doubly so with dresses lacking shoulders altogether."

But do men, especially the short ones, like those tall, tall, silk turbans that wrap up to at least a foot and a half high? No body asked or answered this question, but these in brilliant hues topped the models' daytime costumes.

But men do like curves. No students in the classroom argued this point. Men will get plenty of these along with all the other things he likes about women's dress for spring.

Two Armed Men Beat and Rob Cafe Operator

WYANDOTTE, Okla. (AP)—Two armed men beat and tied up the 81-year-old operator of a cafe and tavern Monday night and made off with more than $400.

The bandits entered the tavern, just west of Wyandotte on U.S. 60, just as Jim Gronhalt was closing for the night. They were wearing stockings over their faces.

Mrs. Gronhalt also bound and gagged said Gronhalt told the men: "You're not going to hold me up."

Gronhalt was unconscious for about half an hour.

Mrs. Gronhalt managed to free herself and call authorities.

Rare Fresh-Water Plants Located In Japanese Lake

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—On a sunny day the ball-shaped fresh water plants lazily plop to the surface of placid Lake Akan, get their supply of air, and sink again to the lake bottom.

Known as "marimo" or "ball-weed," the strange, agile botanical spheres are found only in one remote corner of Hokkaido's Lake Akan, where they attract thousands of visitors annually.

The rare fresh water plants, which make the elevator-like descent several times a day, are dark, sponge-like with a velvety green color and range in size from a green olive to an unripe orange. They were discovered by Dr. Kingo Miyabe in 1897.

Shocked by careless tourists pilfering the animated plants from Lake Akan and afraid they might become extinct since they were not multiplying, the Japanese government has tried to protect them since 1921. They finally were designated a botanical "national treasure" in March 1952.

Taking the plants from the lake or possession of them is now barred by law.

The decree making them state property spurred the unscrupulous to blackmarket the priceless plants. The government in 1955 issued a nationwide appeal begging marimo owners to return their prized plants to Lake Akan.

The response was a sentimental and sensational success. Marimo owners headed by the Japanese prime minister turned in their plants to government agencies, which had them flown back to Hokkaido.

The rare ball-weeds were admired for their rich color, shape and agility. Some were treasured as weather-vanes. Many persons believed the marimo, whenever they plopped to the surface, were forecasting good weather.

Actually their appearance is a sign the weather is already good. Sunlight affects the buoyancy of the marimos through the process of photosynthesis by which plants convert light energy into oxygen and food.

At night the marimos stay on the bottom. On sunny days they surface. When it's cloudy, they linger in between.

"Some 2,000 marimo, discounting the feeble and sick, were returned home because of the appeal," said Yoshishige Todoroki, deputy chief of the Hokkaido prefectural government's tourist section.

The prefectural government, Todoroki said, spent 1.8 million yen—$5,000 dollars—to ensure their protection. Experts erected special enclosures to keep sightseeing boats from churning over the beds. Measures also were taken to protect them from typhoons, thoughtless tourists and thieves.

In 1956, the marimo threatened to spark an international controversy. Six of the plants were presented to the Vancouver Aquarium in British Columbia, Canada.

Quota Control Approved By Turkey Raisers

DALLAS (AP)—The directors of the National Turkey Federation voted Monday for a quota control system on turkey marketings.

The federation's convention opens today with more than 3,500 turkey industry people expected.

The directors adopted a resolution calling on Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to present a marketing order to the industry for a vote.

They also adopted a policy resolution calling for two marketing orders. One would cover hatching eggs. The other would apply to market birds, with allotments allocated to each producer.

A number of the delegates said a marketing order with quotas or allotments for turkey farmers will as a goodwill gift from Japan. Very few marimo, also revered by the hairy Ainu aborigines of Hokkaido, have been given to anyone.

A Canadian deputy fisheries minister moved to deny the strange ball-weeds entry by labeling them a potential pest to Canada's fishing industry. After a heated exchange of opinion, the marimo were granted a clean bill of health when it was shown they do not propagate outside of Lake Akan and do not thrive in salt water, where the Vancouver Aquarium tanks are drained.

require more legislation by Congress. They contended the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended in 1961, does not permit Freeman to submit an order including such quotas.

The administration held hearings late in 1961 on a proposed marketing order involving regulations on the number of hatching eggs set each year and the number of meat birds marketed. No allotments were involved.

Roy Ritter of Springdale, Ark., was elected third vice president.

News of Interest To Mid-Missourians

GREEN RIDGE — Mrs. William A. Wharton was hostess to the Triple F Club at its annual Christmas party at her home in Green Ridge Wednesday afternoon.

The home was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season. Poinsettias and driftwood formed the centerpiece for the dining table and windows in the living room were decorated with stars.

Mrs. Wharton, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Kendrick, distributed the artistically wrapped gifts to the members. A gift exchange between the members at the party is an annual custom.

Mrs. W. F. Hollenbeck assisted Mrs. Wharton in serving refreshments, which carried the color scheme of red and white.

There were 12 members present.

262,184 PEOPLE changed to Tri-Level BLUE SHIELD during its first year.

Realistic Protection is the reason why!

REALISTIC TRI-LEVEL BLUE SHIELD offers protection which means many doctor bills paid in full for eight out of ten persons in our area.

Tri-Level Blue Shield benefits will be accepted by Participating Physicians as payment in full for all the following services, for single persons with $6,000 or less annual income and for married persons with $7,500 or less annual family income:

SURGERY—Operative and cutting procedures required in the treatment of disease and injury, and suturing of lacerations.

ORTHOPEDIC CARE—Treatment of fractures and complete dislocations.

ANESTHESIA—Administration of general anesthetics required for surgery or orthopedic care.

RADIATION THERAPY—Treatment by use of x-ray, radium, and radioactive isotopes including cobalt.

IN-HOSPITAL DIAGNOSTIC PROCEDURES—Major procedures now used in diagnosis, ranging from cystoscopic examination of the bladder to catheterization of the heart.

IN-HOSPITAL MEDICAL CARE—Non-Surgical Patients... The doctor's hospital visits to treat a patient hospitalized for a non-surgical condition, such as pneumonia. Surgical Patients... Medical services, except consultations, given by a physician other than the surgeon to prepare the patient for surgery, or, in special situations, for care after surgery.

REALISTIC TRI-LEVEL BLUE SHIELD provides dependable protection for the two out of ten people in our area with incomes higher than those stated above—people who, therefore, do not qualify for the full payment feature. They receive allowances so carefully geared to the average charges made by doctors in this area that more than 80% of the total bills for covered services were paid for these members, as revealed in a study of over 10,000 Tri-Level claims from February through September.

Realistic Tri-Level Blue Shield provides, in addition to the services described earlier, allowances for members of all income groups for obstetrical care including anesthesia, and for diagnostic x-ray required by an accident.

Do you have realistic Tri-Level protection?

Leap Into the Future

Nowadays we hear that the "scientific revolution" is vastly accelerating the pace of change through the whole spectrum of 20th-century life.

One cannot help wondering, however, whether the pace in the next generation will be quite as swift as some of the free world's prominent figures seem to believe.

Observing its first quarter-century, Look Magazine asked President Kennedy and more than a score of others to forecast what the next 25 years would bring. The list included Chancellor Adenauer, Israel's Prime Minister Ben-Gurion and Eleanor Roosevelt.

With exceptions—the president was one—there was a strong tendency among the forecasters to perceive either the speedy onrush of nuclear disaster or a dizzy climb toward real peace and enlarged human betterment.

Irish playwright Sean O'Casey summed up the feeling of many of those queried when he said:

"... either our lovely earth will be a charred lump of rubble circling the sun, or we shall all be well on the way to universal peace."

When they were not speaking darkly of nuclear devices, population pressures and menacing communism, the forecasters dwelt glowingly on what they saw as the bright, quick prospects for widening economic abundance, a drawing together of nations into tighter regional and world political unity, spectacular gains in human health, new peaks of achievement in the arts.

As a portrait of the fears and yearnings which grip so many in this age, these responses from leading Westerners may be sharply accurate.

The frequent judgment that so much that is feared or hoped for may be realized in a brief 25 years is harder to accept. It has been nearly that long, for example, since the outbreak of World War II.

Conceding even the most fantastic impact of science and technology, numerous sober appraisers of this era still remind that vital changes in the political and social realms tend to lag far behind technical and economic advances.

The president places himself with the forecasters who take this cautious view—at once less gloomy and less romantically optimistic as to what 1987 will yield.

In Look's glance at the future, he talks—as he has before—of risks, burdens, hardships, constant threats to freedom, continuing revolutions abroad in the world. Kennedy, too, voices great hopes for improvement in the human condition. Yet he adds:

"I am also sadder as I look ahead—not merely because of the perils and pitfalls that await us still, but because of all the work that remains to be done."

In the wide scope of history, 25 years is a pretty short stride. The millennium of general tranquility and abundance seems, in hard truth, a far greater distance beyond.

JFK May Stick to Back-Scratching

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—As the second session of the 87th Congress opens, President Kennedy has made the same decision Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt made—but later changed—to scratch Congress on the back.

Truman, once a senator from Missouri, figured he could get along with Congress. His predecessor, FDR, had secured the cooperation of Congress during his first four years, but after that clobbered Congress over the head.

Truman thought he could do better. He knew and understood his colleagues on Capitol Hill, tried to win their favor. At the end of his first term, however, he found Congress impossible, reversed his tactics, ran for reelection by harpooning and belaboring the evils of the 80th Congress. He won—just as the President can almost always win by going over the head of Congress to the American people.

JFK, also an ex-senator, has tried the same let's-work-together-boys tactics. All during his first year in office he went out of his way to defer to Congress. He figured he knew how to get the cooperation of his old colleagues. He still thinks this way.

Congress gave him a certain amount of cooperation on his program last year but clobbered him on some of the most important measures. He had to make concessions and pull potent wires to get foreign aid OK'd.

He will have a tougher time this year, but still figures that back-scratching will be more effective than pants-kicking.

Sooner or later, however, he's certain to do what every President in this century has done—kick Congress in the teeth. His predecessors found that the public likes the spectacle of one lone man in the White House doing battle with 500 solons on Capitol Hill. Their sporting instinct sides with the lone battler.

Time and JFK
Behind the scenes, Time magazine caused quite a stir in the White House last week.

President Kennedy, who is more philosophical than his staff about press criticism, got a bit irked when Time magazine came out with its cover story on "man of the year."

What happened was that the Italian painter, Pietro Annigoni, was given parts of three days in the White House inner sanctum to do the Time cover portrait of the President and then turned up with a dissipated likeness of Kennedy that showed him with droopy eyes and a necktie askew.

Actually the President is clear-eyed and extremely well dressed.

First word on the unflattering portrait came when a friendly Time reporter tipped off Kenneth O'Donnell, appointment secretary of the President. O'Donnell called Kennedy in Palm Beach a few days before the magazine appeared on the newsstands, and later the first available copy was rushed to the President.

He had already read the original piece about him, written by Time reporter Hugh Sidney, which was favorable. The final version as it appeared in print had been pepped up in New York with some barbs and thistles. JFK dropped a remark about Time's political bias, and let it go at that.

Risky Flights
Those close to President Kennedy are not too happy about his quick helicopter and plane flights he has taken in borderline weather. They believe the President of the United States should exercise a little more caution in getting around the country.

So far there have been no accidents, but there have been some close calls.

One of the worst occurred in Venezuela during a series of four helicopter hops between Caracas and agrarian-housing projects which JFK helped dedicate.

Real fact was that although the headlines featured the possibility of an attack from hostile crowds, similar to that against Nixon, the President was in much greater danger during one leg of his travel.

The incident occurred after luncheon at the beautiful Hotel Maracay on the trip back to Caracas. Luncheon had been delayed, and the presidential party did not get off until mid-afternoon.

Meanwhile a rainstorm had come up, clouds were low, and the President's helicopter had to make an emergency landing on a highway. Other helicopters accompanying him also landed on the highway and auto traffic was immediately stopped.

The President stepped out of his copter for a minute or two, while the pilot communicated with the weather tower. After about six minutes word came that the weather around Caracas was passable. The President proceeded.

It was just barely passable, however, and the copter just managed to make it between clouds and rainstorms. It was not a trip that a pilot likes to take with a man upon whose life the free world depends.

Postscript
Attention, Postmaster General Day: Check on the Christmas cards sent out by Congressman John Rousselot of San Gabriel, Calif.

Rousselot is the right-wing congressman who belongs to the secret John Birch Society and is always clamoring for government economy. However, you will find that Rousselot let the taxpayers pay for his Christmas friendship by mailing out his Christmas greetings under the franking privilege at the taxpayers' expense.

According to post office regulations this is against the law.

Compact Thinking

Chicago police authorities say they are giving up use of the 125 compact cars they tried out.

Their main complaint is that policemen emerging from a small car just don't have the look of authority and strength they like to convey. Evidently they think of the big car as the banker thinks of pillars in front of his bank.

We presume the Chicago officials have some solid evidence to back up their doubts, but so far they haven't offered any.

For instance, are there more cases of resisting arrest involving officers getting out of compact cars? That would be a pretty good sign.

Maybe, however, the whole thing is psychological. Maybe you just can't think big and feel big when your head is scraping the roof and your knees are jammed up against the dashboard.

Precanceled Canines

Postmaster General J. Edward Day inherited from his predecessor, Arthur Summerfield, the hot war between mail carriers and biting dogs.

Starting shortly, the Post Office will simply telephone—not write—the owner of a troublesome dog to come in and pick up his own mail.

In any other realm today, falling back and setting up a buffer zone like this would be quickly labeled appeasement. But the charge doesn't fit here. It's one case where retreat is the tough line. You can't have your mail-man and bite him, too.

Approximately 90 per cent of Jordan's population lives on only 10 per cent of its area, the more fertile northwest section.

Galveston, Texas, was the first city in the United States to adopt the commission form of government, doing so in 1900.

Leaders Waiting On Their 'New Models'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's leaders are acting like automobile manufacturers who have their plants working overtime but aren't saying much until the new models come out.

At this moment the world, compared with some of the feverish moments of 1961, is in a period of tranquility which, of course, won't last.

The crisis over Berlin has died down, Southeast Asia is very troubled but not explosive, the Russians and Chinese aren't happy with each other but are keeping quiet about it. Fidel Castro is hardly doing more than mulling, Moslems and Europeans in Algeria are still shooting and bombing one another but that's par for the course there, even in the Congo some of the noise has died down, and in this country and this election year Democrats and Republicans haven't begun calling each other names yet.

President Kennedy is almost fully occupied getting ready for the return of Congress Wednesday; French President Charles de Gaulle, never very noisy, is contemplating the problem of Algeria; West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, figuring that silence is the better part of wisdom, at least temporarily, is waiting to see what Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev work out on Berlin. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had made a habit of being inconspicuous, is indulging his habit; Mao Tze-tung, the real boss of Red China, is as usual letting others do his talking for him and they're not saying much; and Khrushchev himself most of the time a kind of international Fourth of July, including the rockets, is as quiet as a Sunday morning.

Khrushchev, in fact, at this moment is the No. 1 global mystery: Why has this man, who kept 1961 jittery with talk and tension about Berlin and creating a new status for the East German Communists, been so quiet now for months?

He has been increasingly quiet on Berlin, in fact, since last autumn when the Communists built a wall to seal off East Berlin. This move forced the West tacitly to admit East and West Berlin and East and West Germany couldn't be unified. It also shut off the flow of valuable East German non-Communist manpower and brains to the West.

It's almost as if, after the wall went up, Khrushchev had said to East German Communist boss Ulbricht: "You got enough to keep you quiet awhile so will you please shut up."

Listing this catalogue of quiet-

udes is like writing a memo, shoved into a bottle and tossed into the sea for future generations to find and wonder at, on how for some strange and unknown reason the world for a brief time in the early part of 1962 had an almost civilized appearance.

But this seems unreal and unnatural and in a few days, perhaps in a few weeks, the world should return to normal.

Red Nose Just Does Not Come Out of a Bottle

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M. D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a red nose that some people call a "whisky nose." But I don't drink and never did. What can cause it except whisky? Why can't I get rid of it? I've tried most everything.

A—The condition you describe is probably acne rosacea. Unlike the acne of adolescents, it rarely appears until the 30s, and then more often in the female.

As you might guess from the meaningless name, we know almost nothing about it except what you've already found out, namely, that it has nothing to do with alcoholic beverages and is resistant to treatment.

I wish I could give you some positive recommendation. But failing that I can warn you to avoid adding to your distress and expense by letting yourself in for panoply treatments including X-ray exposures and burning with chemicals.

Q—I have lateral sclerosis. Is there a cure for it? Where can I find out more about the condition?

A—Write the Multiple Sclerosis

National Society, 257 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y.

Q—Just what is the present opinion about low-cholesterol diets for the prevention and treatment of hardening of the arteries?

A—Constant readers of these columns may remember that I limited my dietary recommendations to a simple reduction in the total caloric intake of the foods, and especially the fats, of the basic American diet.

I was quite prepared to spread my butter a little thinner, take one strip of bacon on my eggs instead of three and settle for one scoop of ice cream instead of a plateful.

I could see no reason for deserting the dairy farmer because some of my colleagues failed to realize that our bodies can manufacture cholesterol from substances other than cholesterol itself, just as the pig manufactures bacon from swill, as the cow provides us with the makings for butter and cream out of pasture and the hen gives us egg yolk out of back yard peckings.

So you can imagine how pleased I was to receive a pamphlet from the American Heart Assn. in which it is stated that "even when an individual eliminates cholesterol-rich foods from his diet, his body can manufacture cholesterol from other substances."

Please note that this is not a rejection of the need for weight reduction by those threatened with or suffering from atherosclerosis or any of its consequences.

It is a plea for weight reduction by the simplest and least expensive method. Namely, a reduction in the total caloric intake provided by the basic American diet.

Socialistic Policy Pledged for Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria's new premier, Dr. Marouf Dawalibi, pledged Monday an internal economic policy of "constructive socialism" and a foreign policy of nonalignment.

In a policy statement for Parliament, Dawalibi, Syria's first constitutional premier since the country broke away from Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic last September, promised to cooperate with other Arab states in efforts toward a common Arab market.

Gifts of Stock to Minors May Be Used for Them

BY FAYE HENLE

Q—If stock gifts are made to minors, may this custodial property be used for the support, maintenance, education or general use and benefit of the minor? Who determines such use?—M. C.

Dear M. C.: Yes. Generally any part or all of the custodial property may be used for these purposes as the custodian deems proper with court order and without considering other property belonging to the minor. In addition, a law called the "Uniform Act" states the parent or guardian of the minor—or the minor if he has reached the age of 14—may petition the proper court for an order calling upon the custodian to pay over a part or all of the custodial property necessary for these purposes.

Q—I understand there are some plans that allow a college student to work part of the year, get academic credit for his job as well as pay, study part of the year and that these are called co-operative education plans. Where can I get details?—C. C.

Dear C. C.: First, write the college of your choice to see whether they offer a co-operative education plan. Write to Dr. Henry H. Armsby, Division of Higher Education, Office of Education, Washington 25, D.C., for a free pamphlet called "Co-operative Education in the U.S." Also, contact your local U.S. Civil Service Commission office. Under Civil Service various plans are available in a wide range of job classifications.

Q—When I was forced to discontinue premium payments on my insurance policy two years ago, the agent advised me to select what he called "the extended insurance" option. Now I am told I cannot borrow against the policy even though I am covered for the next nine years. Is this true?—B. W.

Dear B. W.: Yes, this is true and your agent did not give you very good advice or else you did not understand what he was suggesting you do. What you did in taking the "extended option" plan was to authorize the insurance company to use the cash value in your policy to buy a term policy for you for the next 11 years. Term policies do not build cash values; that is one reason their premiums are lower. Now you have no cash value from which to borrow.

You could surrender the policy for cash but I am told that the amount of cash you would get would only be a fraction of what the policy is worth.

We, the Women

He Doesn't Realize That Wife Is a Financial Genius

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I can't teach my wife the first thing about money" complains a husband who reads this column.

"She thinks she had picked up a wonderful bargain when she buys a suit marked down from $150 to $75.

"When I tell her the suit never was worth more than $75 if the store was willing to sell it for that, she replies that I don't know anything about women's clothes and, furthermore, I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She tells me with a straight face that she saves me money when she buys something on sale only because she couldn't resist a 'bargain.'

"When I suggest that she would save me money just by staying away from sales, she tells me I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She has a habit of putting things in 'layaway' and making monthly payments on them out of her grocery money.

"She claims that doesn't cost me anything, but when I tell her that if she can make monthly payments on a mink stole out of her grocery money her budget for groceries is too high, she says (you guessed it) that I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

Jury Selected In Second Trial For Mrs. Kinne

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A jury has been selected for the second trial of Mrs. Sharon Kinne, 22, charged with murdering her husband.

James A. Kinne, 25, was shot to death at their home in Independence, Mo., on March 19, 1960. At that time, police decided he was shot accidentally by the couple's 2½-year-old daughter while he was taking a nap on a bed.

In July of 1960, a grand jury indicted Mrs. Kinne on two murder charges, alleging she killed her husband and Mrs. Patricia Jones, wife of a man Mrs. Kinne had dated.

"She has a habit of hiding bills until I am in what she calls a 'good mood.' When I explain patiently that my being in a good mood doesn't automatically reduce the size of the bills, she says she didn't buy anything she didn't need and that I don't appreciate how hard she tries to save me money.

"She even figures that anything she can get me to pay for that should come out of her household budget is actually money 'saved.' The fact that it all comes out of my salary doesn't impress her at all.

"Is she just hopeless financially—or what?"

It sounds as though she is a financial genius—just like most housewives. It's by just such feminine figuring that wives manage to stretch their husbands' income to cover everything they—the wives—consider important.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER: After the Horse, the Plow.—The plow, according to an agricultural engineer employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, may go the way of the horse—out.

The expert, working at Iowa State University, produced an excellent stand of corn this year without aid of plow, disk or harrow before or after planting. He's convinced tillage methods are wasted motion. He prepared the seedbed through application of newly developed chemicals at planting time, using a planter attachment to get the seed in the ground through the surface mulch. A new, potent control chemical kept down the weeds.

The new system leaves this problem, if successful: What are the world's swords to be beaten into if there's no use for plow shares?

Latin American Festival Is Successful, 191 Attend

The first Sunday night of the Latin American Festival at the Wesley Methodist Church was very successful with 191 persons in attendance.

Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom was the teacher of the adult class, laying the foundation for the three classes to follow by giving the geography and a bit of the history.

There is only one red mark in the Western Hemisphere, Mrs. Lindstrom said, referring to the Communist movement, and that is Cuba. All South America, except one-tenth lies east of New York. What she considers Latin America, she said, are the lands that are independent, whose culture is derived from the Latin.

North America begins at the southern boundary of Mexico. South America begins at the boundary of Colombia, and Central America is all the land in between. British Honduras and the Panama Canal are not a part of Latin America, she said.

Special Tools In Making For US Spacemen

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A space mechanic working in zero-gravity could turn a flip simply by twisting a screwdriver. A monkey wrench could throw him for a loop.

Weightlessness in space requires special tools that are being developed at the Marshall Space Flight Center.

To keep a space mechanic from having to handle ordinary tools, the space agency is experimenting with new push-button and quick-squeeze hand tools.

In an orbital launching operation, separate stages of a manned space vehicle would be launched, assembled and possibly fueled while in a 300-mile-high orbit. All of this would take place on the second leg of a round-trip flight to the moon.

Space mechanics may have to connect these rocket stages.

Experiments are being conducted jointly here by the Manned Space Craft Center, Langley Field, Va., and the Space Flight Center to determine over-all space vehicle maintenance problems.

In simulated space tests, an engineer wearing a pressurized space suit and standing on a frictionless platform riding on air pressure, carries out maintenance jobs that a space mechanic might encounter.

The floating platform simulates, to some degree, the unbalanced condition found in space. Gravity, however, is normal.

Standing on the platform, a space mechanic tests the newly developed antitorque tools that space mechanics of the future may use.

One is a screwdriver that can be turned by squeezing rather than by twisting. Another is a combination of pliers and wrench, also operated by squeezing.

A third tool, called a spinfit, is a wrench operated by a trigger.

First Christian CWF Holds Meet Thursday

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met in regular meeting Thursday in fellowship hall with 37 members present.

A piano prelude by Mrs. H. O. Foraker preceded the meeting, which was opened with a prayer by Rev. Purviance.

Mrs. Maree Lewis, service chairman, made an announcement of plans for the next service day.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Joy Harris, who introduced Mrs. Charles Allen, who presented the devotional. Following the reading of the 23rd Psalm, the hymn, "O, Master Let Me Walk With Thee," was sung. Mrs. Allen offered a prayer of dedication for the offering.

Mrs. Rosemary Date, program chairman, introduced a panel consisting of Rev. Purviance, Rev. Spellman, Dr. O. J. Durnell and Mrs. Kay Tevis. Dr. Durnell served as moderator for the panel, which sought to answer questions from the women as to the functioning of World Outreach, membership and evangelism departments of the church. The theme, "Attempt Great Things, Expect Great Things."

The group was dismissed by the president, Mrs. F. L. Alice.

Mrs. W. Keim Becomes Member Of Altrusa Club

Mrs. William Keim, co-manager of the Bothwell Hotel, became a member of the Altrusa Club of Sedalia when it met for luncheon at the hotel Monday.

Mrs. Genevieve Watson, chief operator, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, presented the program. She showed a film entitled "Space Communications." The narrative to the film stated that the United States wasn't first in orbiting a satellite, nor in putting a man in space, but the evidence indicates that U.S. technology in the field of satellite communications is ahead of the Russians.

This presents us with a tremendous opportunity. We can lead the nations of the world into practical, peaceful use of this new frontier that is outer space. Such an achievement would receive worldwide acclaim and it would offer substantial evidence to all nations of America's peaceful intentions. In addition to these goodwill benefits, such a program would also lengthen our lead over the Russians in this vital field, and improved communications would be a big step toward creating better understanding among the nations of the world.

The development of microwave was an important step in the evolution of space communications, but microwaves travel in a straight, line-of-sight path. Numerous relay towers are needed to intercept and amplify the signals on their journey between distant points. For this reason microwave transmission isn't possible over large bodies of water. A signal sent over the Atlantic soars off into space instead of following the curvature of the earth.

To amplify and redirect a microwave signal from a position in mid-ocean would require a tower 475 miles high. Needless to say, it's not going to be built. So, for microwave transmission overseas, a very special kind of "tower" is needed—a tower in the sky—a satellite.

As a concluding note, it should be pointed out that Southwestern

Rose Society Members Meet At Coffee Pot

Eighteen members of the Sedalia Rose Society met in the Pine Room of the Coffee Pot Cafe Thursday evening, Jan. 4, and planned the year's program and activities for the Society.

The new president, Henry Kipp, conducted a short business meeting.

Mrs. Wilson Harbit, program chairman, announced the programs and activities that have been planned for the year.

Oscar DeWolf, Rose Show chairman, announced the date of the Annual Rose Show which will be June 2 and named the chairman of all committees for the show.

The February meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gill.

E. A. Hood will teach the adult class next week with Mrs. R. M. Stonner, Joe Allen and Jack Gray as leaders.

There was a large group in the senior and junior departments, about 20 in the primary department and about ten youngsters in the nursery. The intermediate group was not as large as expected.

The next week will feature a dinner of Latin American dishes for which those attending will pay.

MR. FARMER:

Have you noticed that this season for one of the first times in years, soybean prices have gone up during the harvest season, instead of going steadily down, in spite of the predicted record crop? Why is this happening?

Of course, we can probably think of many reasons for this, and I'm sure the Buyers could give us some very confusing reasons.

Just ask yourself this. What makes a buyer bid? When he is wanting you to sell, and you won't sell at the offered price. He is trying to jar you loose by moving the price one way or the other.

This then, is the real reason for the soybean price rise and sudden drops now and then. Farmers are storing their beans and corn at a record rate this year and they are in effect, staging a holding action. This "holding action" is working like the old familiar coke machine that will not give you a bottle of pop unless you put a dime in it. It just won't work for nine cents.

To quote the Wall Street Journal of Dec. 5, 1961: "Although this year's soybean crop is estimated at a record 701 million bushels, 25% above 1960, receipts at big markets so far this season amount to only 34 million bushels, 20 million less than a year ago. Corn receipts total 64 million bushels, down from 112 million."

Pettis County NFO is urging you as a FARMER and as a CITIZEN who will stand up for his rights, to continue to hold your soybeans and corn, as the NFO bargains for a fair and a just price for our products.

IF YOU ARE WILLING TO LET ORGANIZED BUYING INTERESTS CONTINUE TO RUN YOUR BUSINESS (SOMETIMES AT A LOSS TO YOU) AND TO SET YOUR PRICES AT ANY LEVEL THEY MAY SEE FIT, THEN YOU MAY DISREGARD THIS NOTICE COMPLETELY.

WINTER EXPRESS—Leaving a cloud of ice crystals in its wake, a huge Convair 880-M plows through a man-made "winter" on the runway at Federal Aviation Agency's experimental center in Atlantic City. Dubbed "Winter Wonderland Express" by ground crews, the jet was undergoing slush tests to prove safe take-off and landing conditions. Tons of crushed ice were spread on the runway by a 115-man crew to simulate bad weather.

Crosby Is Reported Steadily Improving

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

What value do you place on your eyes and vision? Do you give thought to taking care of your sight or do you just take your eyes and vision for granted?

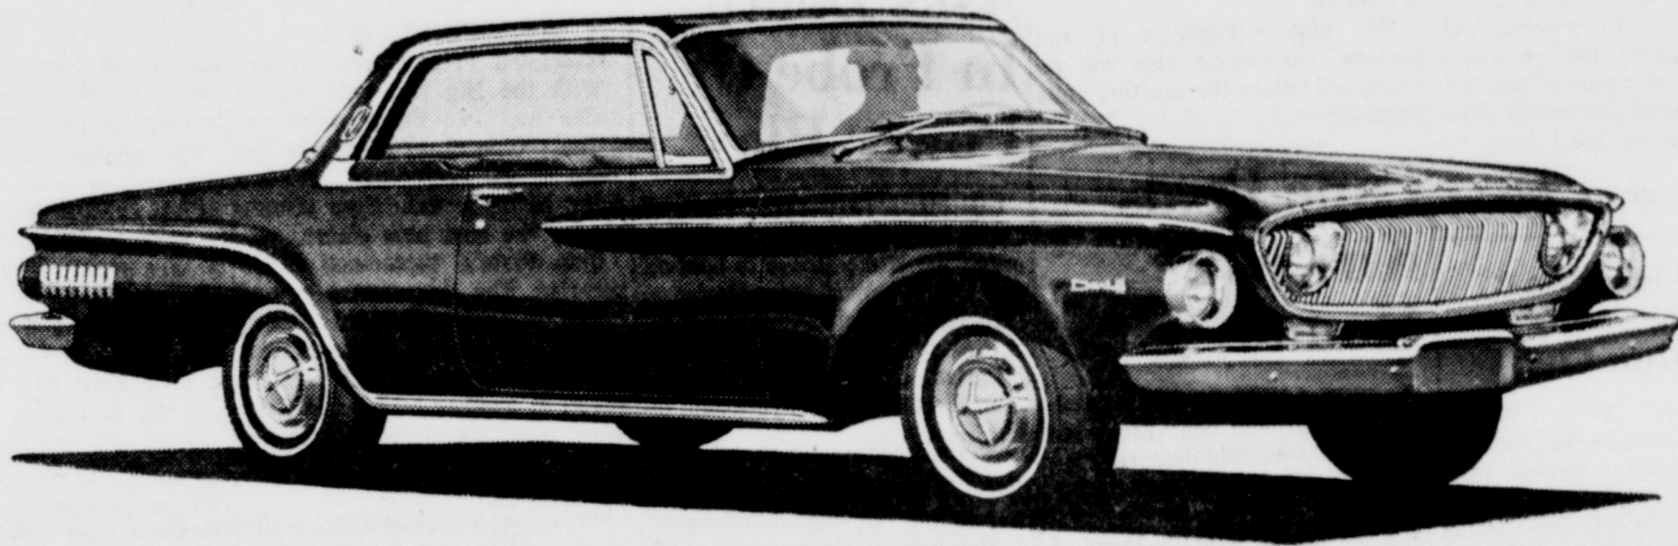

Members of the Missouri Optometric Association think you have a priceless heritage in your eyes and visual functions—a natural endowment of great importance to you which deserves care and protection of the first order.

Neglect and delay in seeking professional care for your eyes and visual functions often lead to serious loss and impairment. It is of utmost importance that each individual think about eyes and vision and take steps to secure needed care and protection.

The Missouri Optometric Association urges one and all to ponder such things as mail order glasses, dime and dollar store glasses, glasses advertised at spectacular sales or supplied by discount houses. Can there be any eye-care or vision-care associated with such transactions?

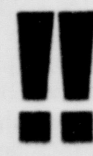

What about the person who goes along for years without having eyes and vision carefully examined or uses the same pair of glasses long after they should be discarded or changed? Neglect and delay are chief causes of impaired sight.

You may well ask yourself how long it has been since your eyes and vision were carefully examined. Think, too, about the members of your family—about the children in your care. What about their eyes and vision?

NFY Attendance Record At All-time High in '61

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Surging National Football League attendance hit a record high of 3,986,159 in 1961 with an average crowd of 40,675 at each of 98 regular season games.

"We are enthusiastic about the general balance of our attendance," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was re-elected Monday for a new five-year term at $50,000 a year.

"From 1952 to 1959, Los Angeles was very successful with big crowds of 70,000 and 75,000 accounting for a good share of our attendance. Although the Rams were not utilizing their big stadium in the league to full capacity, our attendance still went up. That is a healthy trend. We are sorry we missed by only 14 thousand from hitting the 4 million mark."

Jim Kensil, league public relations chief, did not announce any individual club breakdown when he released the official paid attendance figures. He said the average crowd in 1961 was 40,675, compared to 40,106 in 1960.

Unofficial Associated Press figures showed that Cleveland led the league with 426,886, followed by New York with 423,949 and Philadelphia with 412,318. The biggest single turnout was 80,455 at Cleveland for the Nov. 26 game with New York.

The re-election of Rozelle was no surprise because the league has enjoyed unprecedented success in his regime. He just finished the second year of an original three-year term following his election as a compromise choice at the stormy 1960 meeting. Although Rozelle received no salary increase, it was expected that adjustments would be made after current problems have been resolved.

S-C Junior Tigers Drop Two Games

Monday night the Smith-Cotton Junior High Tigers dropped two games to the Jefferson City Cubs. The Freshmen made a last minute effort which dropped short and the Cubs slipped by with a 43-39 victory. The Jefferson City Cubs swept past the Tigers, 49-19, in the eighth grade game.

In the Freshmen game the pace was fast and the action rough. The Tigers held a slim lead during the first half but the Cubs began to whittle it down towards the end of the half. When the whistle sounded for the end of the half the Tigers led by one point, 17-16.

The second half saw both teams making use of the full court press and fast break. The Cubs seized the lead and slowly pulled ahead, building up a six point lead at the end of the third quarter.

The Tigers fought back desperately but their efforts ended in failure.

Early in the first quarter of the eighth grade game the Cubs put on a full court press and built up a lead which they held through the entire game.

At the end of the half the Cubs led by ten points, 19-9.

Jefferson City's height gave the control of the backboards, which enabled them to extend their lead.

The Tigers kept fighting but were unable to match the Cub's height and the game ended with the Cubs winning, 49-19.

Score by quarters:

Asks Delay In Probe Of Power Play

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has urged the White House to hold off a possible federal investigation of its power struggle with the national AAU until "all avenues of negotiations are exhausted," executive director Walter Byers said today.

"The report I gave to White House representatives was that I, personally, felt that intervention by the federal government, from either the executive or legislative branches, should come as a last resort," Byers told The Associated Press.

"If it develops that a reasonable solution to these difficulties cannot be obtained, then I am sure the colleges will be the first to welcome the government's help."

Byers' confirmation to the Oakland Tribune's report that President Kennedy has been urged by several West Coast senators to intervene came in the wake of another step in the NCAA-AAU fight, this one involving track and field.

Opening the week-long NCAA convention, Byers announced Monday that the NCAA had been petitioned by track coaches to take the lead in formation of a U.S. track and field federation that would greatly reduce AAU influence in the sport.

A similar federation has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball in the continuing struggle over representation to the international bodies in both sports.

Colleges, together with high schools and armed forces, have said the AAU has done a poor job in its conduct of affairs in basketball and track and field, particularly in regard to international matters.

Drag-Ons to Assist In March of Dimes Drive Now Opening

The Sedalia Drag-Ons Club, Monday night, voted to offer its assistance to the March of Dimes campaign which is opening. It was brought out at the meeting the Club besides being a strong backer of safety on the highways also desires to take part in the civic functions of Sedalia.

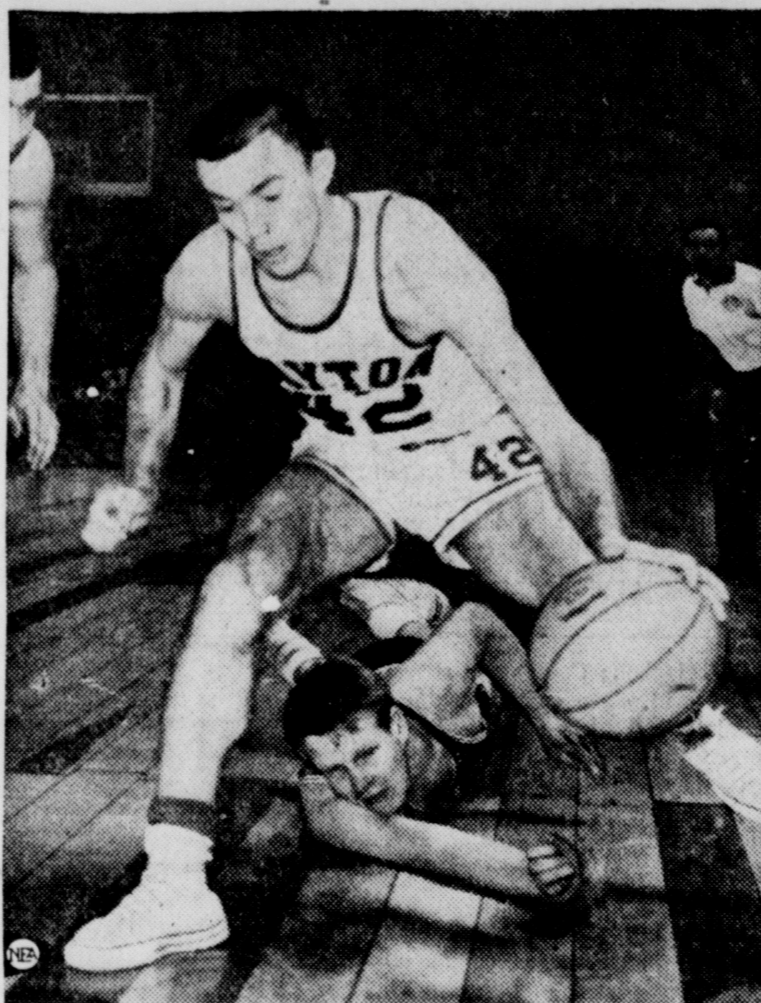

Bill Botcher, president, presided over the meeting and introduced a new member in Ralph Morarity who was then installed in the organization.

During the meeting the members discussed the traffic conditions on Sedalia's streets, and the members agreed to continue to give assistance to motorists in trouble on the streets or highways.

The Club which was recently reactivated now has nine members and gradually increasing its membership. New applications are being screened closely to determine if the person is worthy, safety-wise in motoring, to become a member.

Two Things Apparent

Wide Open Scramble In Big Ten Playoffs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the Big Ten race barely under way two things seem apparent: Ohio State is clearly the class of the conference, and it's going to be a wide open scramble for the next nine places.

Ohio State's supremacy is no surprise. The deep and seasoned Buckeyes hold undisputed possession as the nation's top team, and are virtually sure shot bets to sweep to another conference title.

Some other developments among the Big Ten members do rate in the surprise category.

For example, leading up to the conference openers last Saturday, Big Ten squads failed to fatten up on outside opposition as they usually do. In 80 games against non-league opponents, they were 57-33—with Ohio State 10-0, Illinois 7-1 and Purdue 7-2. That left the seven others barely above the break-even point at 33-30.

For another thing, the teams expected to give Ohio State its stiffest competition haven't exactly been fireballs. After two conference games, Purdue is 1-1 and 8-3 over-all, Iowa is 1-1 and 7-4, Illinois is 1-1 and 8-2, Northwestern is 0-2 and 5-6 and Minnesota is 2-0 against Big Ten rivals but only 6-6 over-all.

While Ohio State was idle Monday night, All-America Terry Disinger pumped in 45 points as Purdue scored a home court victory over Illinois; Minnesota outscored Indiana 104-100 at Minneapolis; Iowa's Don Nelson set a Hawkeye record in the 74-60 decision over Northwestern at Iowa City; and Wisconsin outlasted Michigan State 83-78 on the Spartans' floor.

It was a night for records. Nelson's 26 points gave him a career total of 1,206 and an all-time Iowa high. Minnesota's 104 points was a school scoring mark.

At Vanderbilt, Cotton Nash of Kentucky continued to show that the "sophomore sensation" label pinned on him is more fact than drummer's fantasy. The teen-aged blond scored 31 points in leading the nationally 3rd-ranked Wildcats over the Commodores 76-68 in their Southeastern Conference match.

Gene Engel packed a lot of punch in the closing moments, sparking Virginia to a 98-95 Atlantic Coast conference victory over South Carolina. Engel snapped a 92-92 tie on a pair of free throws with 49 seconds to go, then clinched it with a layup.

St. Louis, struggling through a highly disappointing season, won its first Missouri Valley Conference game in three starts, 81-59 over Tulsa. Iowa State's steadi-ness enabled it to beat an erratic Oklahoma State squad, 47-42, in the Big Eight. Larry Jackson's driving layup with 16 seconds to go gave Ohio University its clincher in an 82-81 squeaker with Western Michigan in the Mid-American Conference.

Other results—Furman 59, The Citadel 51; Oklahoma 56, Missouri 52; Louisiana State 76, Georgia 57; Tulane 59, Florida 47; Auburn 64, Mississippi 58; Murray 82, Eastern Kentucky 80; Clemson 75, Florida State 69; Providence 79, Massachusetts 45; Ct. John's (NY) 108, Bridgeport 84.

Ohio State Tops Press Cage Poll

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State, one of the two major college basketball teams still unbeaten, maintained its unblemished record with the sports writers and broadcasters, too, receiving first-place votes on all ballots cast this week in The Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati and Kentucky held firmly to their second and third places, respectively. All others jockeyed positions although none of last week's top ten fell out of the select group.

The University of Southern California, twice victors over California over the weekend, advanced two notches to fourth place. Kansas State and Villanova each dropped a berth to fifth and sixth, respectively. Kansas State lost to Colorado Saturday 75-61 and Villanova was knocked off the unbeaten list by West Virginia 88-82.

Mississippi State, which remained undefeated by shading Auburn 51-48 for its 10th triumph, jumped two places to seventh. Bowling Green climbed to ninth while Duquesne dropped a notch to eighth and Duke fell two positions to 10.

The Ohio State Buckeyes, led by John Havlicek and Jerry Lucas, swept past Northwestern 85-62 for their 11th straight triumph, and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis and Tulsa to boost its record to 11-1. Kentucky (10-1) knocked off Virginia and Georgia Tech to extend its unbeaten string to nine.

The top ten, based on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 vote count with first place votes in parentheses:

	points
1. Ohio State	410
2. Cincinnati	363
3. Kentucky	327
4. Southern California	249
5. Kansas State	205
6. Villanova	183
7. Mississippi State	162
8. Duquesne	150
9. Bowling Green	56
10. Duke	46

Others receiving votes (not necessarily in order of points): Utah, Bradley, Oregon State, Illinois, West Virginia, Wichita, St. John's, Santa Clara, Detroit, Temple, Butler, Purdue, Wisconsin, Drake, North Carolina State, Arkansas.

Sonny Jurgensen Undergoes Surgery

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles' all-pro quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, undergoes surgery today to repair his right shoulder which was severely separated in the National Football League Runnerup Bowl.

The surgeon, Dr. Mike Mandarino, who also is the club's team physician, said the 27-year-old star who set passing records in his first year as a regular "should be all right for next season."

"He might even be playing basketball in about eight weeks," said Mandarino.

Odd-Ball Bowling

By MARY LOUISE YOUNG
Tournament Star
Written for NEA

My bowling oddity is my backswing.

I bring the ball back so far, and with such a grip that I sometimes scare the daylight out of the spectators who seem to think I'm about to bomb them.

Many women employ a high backswing. They feel they have to swing high, wide and handsome to make up for lack of brawn, but I outdo them all. The right arm goes almost straight up.

For some reason I've never fathomed, while I'm poised that way, my little finger leaves the surface of the ball, giving the impression that all the fingers are coming out of the holes and the ball is about to fly away. No wonder spectators cringe!

I don't know why I employ this exaggerated style. I never had a lesson. I just started to play that way and never got around to changing.

It isn't right, of course, which is the reason I tell those I instruct at Brunswick clinics not to do as I do, but as I say.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Why is it that in our society when a woman marries for money nobody thinks anything of it? They call her "practical" and congratulate her for making a solid selection. When a man does the same thing he is "a fortunehunter" and a louse.

Liz Taylor Not Running For Oscar

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The remarkable thing about this year's Oscar race is that Elizabeth Taylor is not in the running.

It's the first time in five years that she hasn't been a candidate. The reason is simple: She didn't make a movie this year.

But other ladies did, and they're out to make it one of the closest battles in recent history.

Here are the major contenders: Natalie Wood, "Splendor in the Grass;" Rosalind Russell, "A Majority of One;" Geraldine Page, "Summer and Smoke;" Piper Laurie, "The Hustler;" Audrey Hepburn and Shirley MacLaine, "The Children's Hour;" Deborah Kerr, "The Innocents."

Two of these talented females won't find a place among the finalists. It's anybody's guess which two.

The race for male star is more compact. Here's the way it looks to this observer:

Paul Newman, "The Hustler;" Maximilian Schell, "Judgment at Nuremberg;" Maurice Chevalier, "Fanny;" Albert Finney, "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning;" James Cagney, "One, Two, Three."

The best-picture contest is a tough one. These are the probabilities, in this order:

"The Hustler," "West Side Story," "The Children's Hour," "Guns of Navarone," "Fanny," "Judgment at Nuremberg," "One, Two, Three."

Nominees for supporting performances are always difficult to predict. There are hundreds of candidates, and often the ones with the best press agents get nominated. But have crystal ball, will travail.

Best supporting actor — Jackie Gleason, "The Hustler;" George C. Scott, "The Hustler;" Montgomery Clift, "Judgment at Nuremberg;" George Chakiris, "West Side Story;" Edward Everett Horton, "Pocketful of Miracles."

Best supporting actress — Fay Bainter, "The Children's Hour;" Rita Moreno, "West Side Story;" Judy Garland, "Judgment at Nuremberg;" Lotte Lenya, "Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone;" Una Merkel, "Summer and Smoke."

This year saw a repeat of the ridiculous situation of the major companies gutting the Los Angeles theaters with their academy hopefuls. The philosophy is that the pictures most recently in academy voters minds have the better chance. The result: Theaters have a holiday harvest of riches, then suffer a famine as the new year progresses.

If "The Hustler" proves the big winner this year—and it looks the favorite, it may help to relieve this situation. It was released far ahead of the deadline, as were "Fanny" and "Guns of Navarone."

We'll know how inaccurate these predictions are on Feb. 26, when the nominations are announced. The big prizes will be handed out with the usual hoopla at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium April 9.

much to offer a woman. In fact I have everything but money. I say NO marriage needs two rich people. It always seems such a waste when a Ford marries a Du Pont.

In the past ten years I've taken out hundreds of women — from 16 to 60. They all end up fishing for a financial statement. The women with money were quick to let me know that "everything is tied up in trust."

If it's respectable for a woman to marry for loot instead of love why can't a man?—ALSO PRACTICAL.

Dear Also: Your assumption that women who marry for money get society's approval is cockeyed. You further assume that every marriage is based on either love or loot. This is also an absurdity.

People who marry strictly for money (male OR female) should get the top price because they earn every dime of it. Brother. It's the hardest work there is.

Dear Ann: What can I do about a husband like this? We both work and I get home at 5:30 P.M. He could get home at 5:30 with a little effort but he rarely makes it before 6:00.

Every night after supper he heads for the tavern and stays there till about 11:00. He tells everybody he does this because "his wife is never home." This is a lie. I only go to Navy Mother's Club, a private bingo party once a week, bowling league and to my mother's house. The reason I go out at night is because he's never home.

We've been married for 33 years and get along pretty well except for this problem. Can you suggest help? — CASS

Dear Cass: You say you go because your husband is never home. He claims he goes because you're always gone. Why don't you both agree to stay home and get acquainted?

Since you're the one with the organized activities it's up to you to drop at least some of them and show your husband that he means more to you than bingo — or even your mother.

Dear Ann Landers: Seat belts are not yet compulsory in our state but I suspect it won't be long before they are. This poses a problem.

If a man and wife have a lady guest in the front seat the answer is obvious. The guest gets in next to the husband and the man and his wife use the seat belts. But if the guest is a gentleman does he sit on the outside with the seat belt and leave the wife in the middle, unprotected?

Sticky, isn't it? — V. H.

Dear V. H.: The gentleman guest should volunteer to sit in the middle unprotected. This means he gets into the car ahead of the woman which of course calls for a word of apology for violating a basic rule of etiquette.

Confidential to BLUE STREAK: Telling him goodbye to "scare" him may be dangerous. Sometimes they leave.

The circles of the Immanuel United Church of Christ met as follows.

The Dorcas Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jewel Brauer, South 65 Highway, for a turkey dinner. There were nine members, two guests and three children and Rev. Klemme present.

Mrs. Harley Vaughn gave the devotional and read a Christmas story from the "Better Homes and Gardens" magazine. The group gave $50 to the Building Fund. They also sent a box to the Missouri Training School for one of the boys.

After the dinner, gifts were exchanged.

The Ruth Circle met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Liebel, 1500 East Seventh, for a Christmas party and exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Beulah Griessen gave the devotional and Mrs. Liebel read a Christmas story.

The Rebekah Circle met at the home of Mrs. Harry Nagel, 2200 West Second. Miss Lydia Wagner and Miss Anna Mae Huffman served as hostesses.

There were 12 members present. The meeting was in the form of a Christmas party and gifts were exchanged.

The Mary-Martha Circle met

Twin Groves 4-H Holds Regular Meet

The Twin Groves 4-H Club held its regular meeting at the Oak Grove Community Hall Monday night.

Linda Sperber, vice president, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president. Two officers and a council member were elected to fill vacancies.

First year pins were given to nine members for last year's work by their community leader, Mrs. Dorothy Riley.

Eight members and eight visitors were present. The next meeting will be the first Monday in February.

Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gene Teeter for a contributive dinner. There were 10 members, Rev. Klemme and Mr. Teeter present.

Mrs. Richard Meisenheimer chose as her devotional the story "The Miracle of Christmas" from the United Church Herald. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Teeter for serving this past year as circle chairman. The rest of the evening was spent exchanging gifts and playing games with prizes going to Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite, Mrs. Earl Eakins and Mrs. Richard Meisenheimer.

Oklahoma's Mr. Republican

GOP Committee Meeting Triumph for Henry Bellmon

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — The Republican National Committee meeting here this weekend is a personal triumph for Henry Bellmon, the big, blunt-talking farmer who is fast becoming Oklahoma's "Mr. Republican."

Bellmon has reorganized and revitalized the party in the two years since he became state chairman.

William Miller, national Republican chairman, said the decision to meet in Oklahoma came as a recognition to the state party's sudden surge in this Democratic stronghold.

It is apparent that Bellmon considers this meeting as another stepping stone toward the goal he has set for the party and himself. He has a special reason for wanting the Republicans to break a 55-year drought and elect their first Oklahoma governor in 1962—he probably will be the GOP gubernatorial nominee.

Bellmon has had the same success in running the state party that he had in his Noble County precinct. During his chairmanship there from 1932 to 1958, he was so successful at raising funds and stimulating voter interest, he received recognition from both the state and national parties.

Under his leadership last year, Oklahoma went Republican in the presidential election while Democrats won nationally. Clyde Wheeler Jr. almost became the first Republican congressman elected from the state's present 6th District, getting a majority of votes a recount.

Bellmon contends Oklahoma is becoming more conservative, and his party can make big gains this in the first count, but losing in year.

It didn't take other Republican leaders long to recognize Bellmon's prowess as a political fighter. They began urging him to run for governor and he consented. He is a heavy favorite to win the nomination.

Bellmon heckled Gov. J. Howard Edmondson by congratulating him on cleaning up the outside of the state Capitol. He said Republicans will complete the job by giving the inside "a long overdue scrubbing."

He says Edmondson sometimes tries to initiate good government, but is blocked by "Old Guard" Democrats who control the party organization and the legislature. State Democrats deny his accusations.

Bellmon says his major concern is stopping the trend toward bigger government and more taxes. He is particularly opposed to further increases in the public welfare program.

Bellmon is a 200-pounder built like a football tackle. He wears his hair cropped close and looks younger than his 40 years. His soft voice and calm disposition are sometimes deceiving.

The only public office he ever held was right after World War II when he served one term in the legislature from Noble County. Defeated for re-election in 1948, he concentrated his energies on a new business venture as a dirt moving contractor.

Later he sold out this business and expanded his wheat farm to 1,400 acres. He still operates this farm in Noble County.

Bellmon is a Presbyterian, a former Marine and the father of three daughters.

His goal for a Republican victory this fall includes more than himself. He also wants to elect one senator, three congressmen and 50 state legislators in Oklahoma.

Even he admits this is a very ambitious goal—but not an impossible one.

Questioning Young Husband In Death Of 20-year-old Wife

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — LeRoy Coleman, arrested on a bus in Rolla Monday, is being held for questioning about the death of his estranged wife in Buffalo, N. Y. His 20-year-old wife, Marlene, was found dead in her Buffalo apartment Sunday. The couple had been separated two months. The Highway patrol picked Coleman up at the request of Buffalo police.

Cooper Keeps In Trim As A Performer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Cooper, who has been a show business star since he was three years old, keeps in performing trim as carefully as he keeps in physical shape.

When he appears Saturday night in CBS' adaptation of "The Four-Poster," it will be a combination holiday from Hollywood and an exercise in acting for the busy performer.

Cooper, who will be 40 in September, is owner, star and director of the successful comedy series, "Hennessey," now in its second season. This is enough to keep the average man in a state bordering exhaustion, but Cooper frequently takes time out to direct a show for some other series.

Before "Hennessey," Cooper acted in, owned and directed another series, "The People's Choice," for several seasons.

"I've been working with my own crew since 1955—I decided to direct my shows so I could get them the way I wanted them to be," he explained during a break in "Four-Poster" rehearsals. "We have worked together so long, I'm spoiled. So occasionally I like to work with other crews. I like to do some outside acting about twice a year. I particularly like to get away from Hollywood and that rut you get into and away to New York. It keeps your interest up."

Cooper is among the stars of the oldest re-runs in television; those ancient, silent "Our Gang" comedies, currently syndicated among TV stations re-titled "The Little Rascals." The pictures were made when he was almost a toddler.

Because he has been a professional actor so long, Cooper has strong ideas about throwing youngsters into acting early. He has four children and is pleased that his oldest, son John Anthony, 15, while interested in show business, wants to finish college before starting a career.

"It takes very special parents to help kids get through an acting career," he said. "Kid actors really don't have much of a childhood. They have to work—have to be prodded into working—when they don't feel like it. They get too much adulation and too much attention. They become spoiled. And they learn about money much too early."

"I think most child actors miss the important things of growing up, the fun of childhood—hanging around the candy store, knowing the kids on the block, school dances and all that sort of thing. I wouldn't want my own children to miss them as I did."

Cooper says he hopes to continue with "Hennessey" for another season or two, and then go on to something else "that interests me."

Russia Testing Tanker to Sail Without a Crew

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union is now experimenting with a completely crewless tanker for operation in the Caspian Sea, Maritime Administrator Donald W. Alexander said Monday night.

Alexander, speaking before the Marine Society of New York, said the Soviet tanker Inzhener A. Pustoshkin, a shallow-draft vessel, is now being converted for fully automated operation.

Alexander said the Soviet Union also is building the first two of a series of 45,000-ton automated tankers, on which a single crewman can operate turbines and boilers and machinery can be controlled from the bridge.

Recovery Roles Are Slated for Carriers

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Navy said Monday it is adding the newly commissioned nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise and the conventionally powered carrier Wasp to its Project Mercury recovery force for a manned space orbit attempt later this month.

The carriers will join the USS Randolph and the Navy's project mercury recovering force based at Norfolk. The recovery force includes about 17 destroyers.
